Covid-19 Update

Updated: March 13, 2020

Following various announcements from American universities, the White House, and most recently, President Macron, CUPA's spring 2020 students are leaving France, with many having already arrived in their respective hometowns. We are deeply saddened to see our students leave. However, the Covid-19 pandemic is unprecedented, and we know that the emotional support students will have being close to family and friends in familiar surroundings will be essential to maintaining their well-being at this time. CUPA will continue to ensure the academic portion of its programs by organizing remote learning alternatives. We will continue to communicate with the students throughout the Spring term to offer them a solid framework for the continuation of their academic semester.
